Between Us..

"BETWEEN-US" HAD A LOCAL INTERFERENCE

We're sorry about her absence, but "Between Us" confided to us that she had company this week. You ladies who have ever had company will understand what that means. Let's hope for our own sake it doesn't happen again, eh?

STATSBORO WOMAN'S CLUB PLANS GALA YEAR

Have you gotten into the swing of things with the Woman's Club of Statesboro? If you haven't, it isn't too late. The club has big plans for the coming year. Already there are one hundred seventeen paid members. Even though the formal membership drive is over, anyone who has not been contacted can still join the club. Mrs. A. W. Stockdale.

At the first meeting of the year, the state president, Mrs. Frank Dennis, of Eatonton, will be the guest speaker. She is the new state president and the Statesboro club will be the first visited by her. Mrs. Alfred Dorman is the program chairman, and the general theme of the year will be to feature as guest speakers outstanding Statesboro people here at home and some who are away. At the October meeting Prince H. Preston, congressman-elect, will speak to the club. Later in the year George F. Donaldson, of Tifton, will speak on "News of Tomorrow." During the season it is planned to have Miss Rebecca Franklin, Atlanta Journal feature writer, discuss interesting people she has interviewed. Also a radio, library and college program are being planned. Music by the Statesboro High School music department and poems from George writers will be worked into the interesting program.

This year the club home committee will be composed of a council of five members with Mrs. J. D. Fletcher as chairman. Serving with her will be Mrs. M. S. Pittman, Mrs. C. P. Olliff, Mrs. Everett Williams and Mrs. Rufus Anderson. They are planning extensive improvements to be made on the home.

Two drum heads ordered in 1886 by James C. Matthews, of Tabor, N. C., reached him last week at Charlottesville, W. Va., having been in the mails for thirty years.

First District A. & M. School will open for the term next Thursday, August 22nd; prospects maturing for the coming term, F. M. Rowan, the principal, has been authorized to buy two buses for the girls, one of these to be horse-drawn.

Social events: Miss Henrietta Parrish was hostess to six couples at a Monday evening, guests present being Misses Lucile Parrish, Eloise and Frances Flats of Savannah, Annie Laurie Turner, Madge Converse of Atlanta, Messrs. George Parrish, Sidney Collins, Lannie Simmons, Horace Smith, Albert Quattlebaum and Julian Groover. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Schatz will leave during the week for Kingston, N. C., where they will make their home. Misses Mary Lou and Julia Bowman, N. C., has been the guest of her brother, Rev. T. J. Cobb, during the week. Misses Annie Laurie and Marguerite Turner are guests of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. I. V. Simmons. Mrs. Carmichael and daughters Misses Mary Lou and Julia, have returned from Tabor, N. C., where they were visiting with their sister, Mrs. R. J. Kennedy.

Two weeks ago there was extended an offer of $10 in cash for a suitable name for this new concern. Clinton Anderson, the manager, tells us that more than 200 names were submitted in response to this invitation, and the responses came from far distant points—from California to Florida, and other points throughout the nation.

Not only does this response indicate the scope of the Bulloch Times' influence as an advertising medium, but it likewise illustrates the intense interest which former citizens of Statesboro, now living elsewhere, still have in the affairs of the old home town.

There is not anything particularly fancy about the name "Superior," but it indicates a determination to stand at the front in service. This new concern proposes to do a very thing. Associated with Clinton Anderson in the ownership of the new industry is his father, O. C. Anderson, of the Sinkhole district. They propose to begin service at an early date.

In congressional race last week J. A. Brannen and W. Shepard Jr. in county unit vote with 18 each; Brannen carried Bulloch, Emanuel, Screven, Jenkins, Burke, and McIntosh, with a total of 34 votes; Shepard carried Chatham, Liberty, Effingham, McIntosh, Tattnall and Bryan, with a total of 2150 votes; dark horse talk is rife. Rumors of irregularity in Bryan county, which gave Shepard 17 majority.

Depositors in the Bank of Statesboro received a third dividend on deposits, bringing total refund to $3 per cent.

Leon C. Johnson, 35, of Garfield, was killed instantly and Charlie Wall, 35, was seriously hurt in a collision between two trucks just inside the city limits on the Port Road Wednesday afternoon.

For the first time since opening two weeks ago, the Statesboro tobacco market sold to a clean floor in Monday's sale; total sold to date approximates 3,000,000 pounds. Statesboro's average last week was $21.95.

Bulloch county farmers will receive some $225,000 from the soil conservation program for the present year, it was announced at a meeting in the court house Saturday at which 500 farmers were present. The AAA program has paid Bulloch county farmers $795,849 for co-operating during the past three years in destroying crops.

Social events: Mrs. H. D. Anderson, Mrs. Fred T. Taylor and Mrs. J. R. Averitt were joint hostesses at the home of Mrs. Anderson Wednesday afternoon. Members of the Mystery Club were entertained Tuesday morning at the home of Mrs. Edwin Groover for five table of bridge. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams entertained informally Monday with a dinner party at their home on Savannah avenue.

The schools' recognition of the existing condition that results in individual maladjustment brought about the employment of the visiting teacher. However, a good attendance service cannot be obtained by the visiting teacher alone. The attitude and understanding of such services by the teacher, principal, board of education and instructional supervisor can only result in a better attendance service in their community. No school program can be satisfactorily worked out by the school authorities alone. The co-operation of the parents is needed for the successful operation of such a program, as well as the co-operation of other agencies, such as the welfare department, health department, etc.

According to regulations of the state board of education a child should be six years of age within sixty days after school opens for the 1946-47 term before he shall be allowed to enter school for the first time, and must present a birth certificate upon his registration in school.

The co-operation of the parents is needed in obtaining birth certificates for their children. Parents are urged to have their children's birth certificates ready when school opens Monday, September 9. If you do not have the certificate now, see your family physician immediately or contact the Bulloch county health department.

Anderson Is Victor In Judgeship Race

In the county primary Tuesday, Cohen Anderson was victor in the race for judgeship, defeating Judge Lin Lanier by a majority of 426 in the county, the vote being 1,480 to 1,054. Of the twelve districts, Anderson won a majority in eight and Lanier in four. By far the largest vote was that polled in Statesboro, which Anderson carried by a majority of 406, thus it will be observed that the race in the rural districts was excitingly close.

By districts the vote was:

44th (Sinkhole) 67 44
45th (Register) 74 38
46th (Lockhart) 19 39
47th (Hay) 71 47

STILSON BUREAU FAVORS PEANUTS

Vote for Continuation of Donating 25 Cents Per Ton To National Council

Growers, shellers and processors should continue their research program on peanuts by donating 25 cents per ton to the National Peanut Council, according to a vote of some 150 peanut growers from all sections of Bulloch county assembled at the Stillson regular Farm Bureau meeting Thursday night.

R. P. Mikell, county president, asked for a show of hands of those present who would be willing to contribute this research program by donating 25 cents per ton on their peanuts when sold. Every man present voted for making the donation. These peanuts will be sold at a price which will be available if they are to maintain their present peanut acreage. Any drop in consumption will decrease the price which the average is entitled.

Robert E. Woodruff, director of organization and research for the Georgia State Bureau, who was the speaker for the Stillson meeting. Community and county officers attended the meeting as the guests of the local chapter.

Mr. Woodruff urged that every county in the state build a stronger Farm Bureau, one that would make the farmers demand for a better standard of living heard.

W. H. Smith Jr., member of the board of the Georgia Farm Bureau, presented Mr. Woodruff. Following Mr. Woodruff's address Dan C. Lee, Stillson president, presented Mr. Mikell, who in turn introduced the visitors from the other chapters.

In calling the roll of the other communities represented, Mr. Mikell asked for an estimate on the number of members the community would have this fall. T. B. Bryan predicted 200 for Brooklet; T. O. Wynn stated that Portals would get as many members as Brooklet; V. J. Rowe thought Nevis would exceed 125 members.

L. G. Banks said West End will get from 150 to 200. R. G. Hilde estimated Register's 1947 enrollment at 80 to 100. Cliff Brundage thought Ogeechie would get more than 100. Mr. Lee's group thought they could increase from about 120 to 150 this year. Mr. Mikell pointed out that the communities not present were all expecting to increase their membership this fall also.
